Hi [Prospect Name],

We haven't been able to reschedule our [product] meeting and it's reminding me a lot of when Rachel stood up Ross on Prom night ...

Jokes aside, I was curious if you are still interested in putting time back on the calendar for us to discuss strategies for [achieving X goal or outcome].

To showcase our commitment to delivering exceptional results, we're offering a complimentary gift to all new clients who book a discovery meeting with us. Here's my calendar if you'd like to discuss in more detail. If you're simply not interested anymore, not a problem, just let me know so I can return my tuxedo. :)

Cheers,

Hi [Prospect Name],

If you watched "Game of Thrones," you know about that ending. If you never cared about "Game of Thrones," chances are, you still know about that ending. My two cents? It was totally rushed and haphazard.

Let's not be "Game of Thrones." I'd love for us to take as much time as we need to get to know our respective businesses and see if we're the right fit for each other. If you'd like to kick things off with a quick call, book some time on my calendar here: [Insert Meetings link]

PS. The coffee is on us - even if it's a virtual meet! I will just send you a voucher, because coffee makes everything better.

Cheers,

Hi [Prospect Name],

Third times a charm!

As you can tell, I am very keen to speak with the [XXX].

If I am barking up the wrong tree, could you point me at the right person to speak to? If I am at the correct tree, can we speak?
